Greetings,

I am delighted to present to you the latest issue of “The Spicerian” magazine. It is with immense joy that I share the exciting news that traffic on our magazine’s website has surged, reflecting the fondness and appreciation our readers have for this peer-reviewed magazine. Your engagement and enthusiasm are heartening, which affirms the value and impact of our content.

This is a special edition as we are celebrating changes. Celebration of change can be both pleasant and unpleasant. Changes are often significant, either for good or bad, and are not easy to accept or practice. In this special edition, we honor Dr. Sanjeevan Arsud for his extraordinary contributions during the toughest times in Spicer Adventist University’s history. This issue, titled “Driving Forces to Change,” is dedicated to the leadership and service of Dr. Arsud, who worked tirelessly to implement remarkable changes at Spicer Adventist University.

Change is a constant in life, driven by a multitude of factors, ranging from technological advancements to shifts in societal values. The heart of change lies in the vision and determination of individuals who see beyond challenges. Dr. Sanjeevan Arsud exemplifies this drive, demonstrating that leadership and resilience can transform challenges into opportunities. Whether prompted by crises or aspirations for improvement, the forces that drive change require courage, innovation, and unwavering commitment to progress. As we delve into the narratives and reflections in this edition, we celebrate not just the changes themselves but the catalysts and visionaries who make them possible. Dr. Arsud’s leadership at Spicer Adventist University is a testament to how dedicated individuals can steer institutions through tumultuous times toward a brighter future, embodying the true spirit of transformative change.

Happy Reading!
